

Snapshots of Excellence

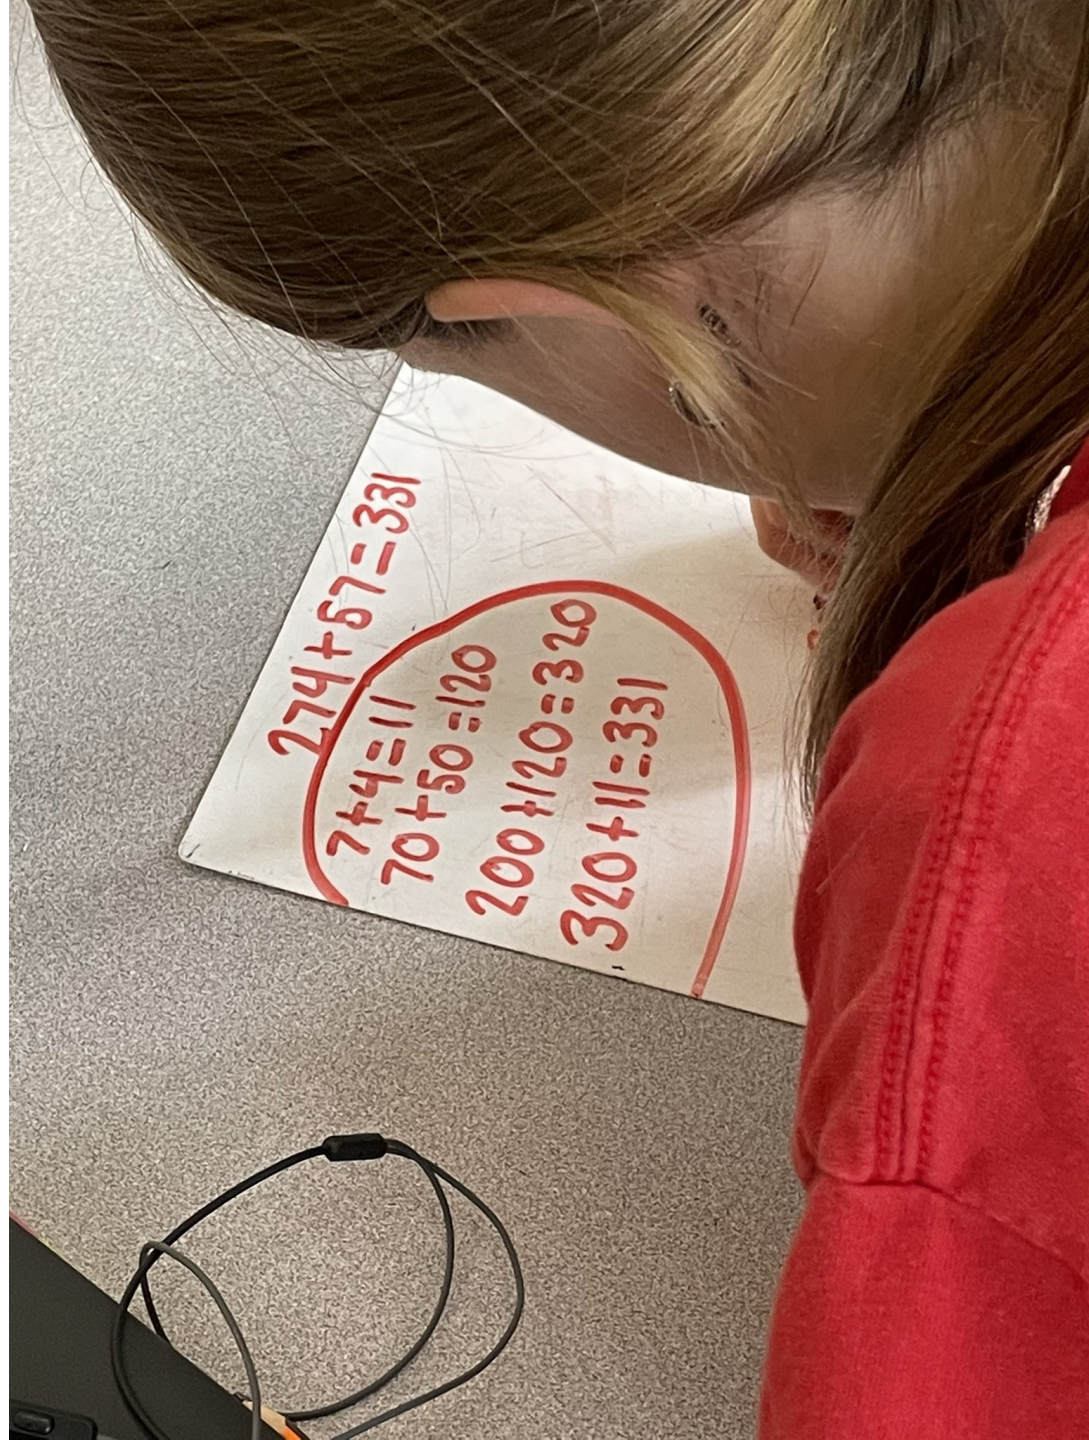

September-October 2022

"As a classroom teacher, Ms. Dent always has something creative cooking, sometimes literally. You will find her students coding, discussing the structural integrity of a pumpkin by wrapping it in rubber bands until it bursts, having guest speakers from musicians, to engineers, to shark activists to discuss how math and science help them perform their jobs. She will be leading online cooking classes with her students or having students design structural marvels in Minecraft. Melissa firmly believes that STEM is the way of the future, and she practices what she preaches."
